

NEW Y. M. C. A. BUILDING OPENED

Last Friday was indeed a red letter day for Clemson College. Almost ever since the founding of the college there has been felt the desire for a building which would serve as a meeting place for the people of the hill and the cadets. Through the untiring efforts of Pres. Riggs, the faculty, alumni, students, and friends, and through their generosity, and through the generosity of John D. Rockefeller, this building has at last been made possible. Something over a year ago the actual work began and was pushed forward until just before the holidays, when the building was declared finished. During the holidays, the Y. M. C. A. authorities got busy and put the newly bought furniture into proper condition and made arrangements for opening the building to the public. Last Friday was the date set.

There were no formal exercises. It had been previously announced that the doors would be opened at four-thirty that afternoon. At the appointed time quite a crowd had gathered. They were met and shown over the building by a reception committee selected from the cadet members of the association. The members of this committee wore simple badges on which was written the word "welcome".

The visitors were shown the main lobby, the reading rooms, ladies' and men's lounging rooms, the private living rooms, secret society room, literary society room, auditorium, moving picture booth, auditorium, moving picture booth, bath rooms, swimming pool, bowling alley, fountain and store, cafeteria, kitchen, gymnasium, publication rooms, and cabinet room, and other interesting features of the building. Special music was rendered during this tour.

Already the uplifting effect of this building can be felt in the life here, both among the students and among the members of the faculty. All feel free to take advantages offered in this modern building and already we see students and faculty members meeting and holding friendly intercourse in the reading rooms, and we can only dream of what a blessing to the social as well as religious life this building will be. And so indeed the day which marked the beginning of this new life should truly be called a red letter day.

The building is a magnificent four-story structure, built at a cost of $75,000.00.

AN ABOMINABLE PRACTICE.

Some days ago it was reported that a cadet at the Virginia Military Institute had died as the result of injuries inflicted upon him by hazers. The report has not been confirmed. It is to be hoped that the facts when revealed, will show that hazing did not cause the death of the young man. But the report, true or false, suggests certain comments which may not be entirely mal apropos.

It is a fact that hazing has time and again been carried to excess. Young men who go off to colleges have, in years past, regarded themselves as released from certain laws of consideration for other people. There have been instances where college students have been seriously injured, and instances where college students have been killed by hazing. If any body of men, other than college students, should form a crowd and proceed to beat-up a stranger, or to kill him, there would be a righteous (Continued on 3rd page.)

SUMMER MILITARY INSTRUCTION CAMP

Report of Advisory Committee of University Presidents.

These camps have now been in operation for three successive summers. In their growth and admirable management during the past two summers of 1914 and 1915, they have more than fulfilled the expectations of those endorsing them, based on the first year's experience in the summer of 1913. The camps of 1913 and 1914 were held before the breaking out of the great war abroad, which has brought into greater prominence than before their value to the nation.

We repeat the hearty endorsement given in our reports on the Camps held in 1913 and 1914. This year they were visited by a number of the members of our committee, and the committee as a whole has given attention and thought to their educational usefulness in the summer season.

The students attending are under careful oversight. The excellence of food, sanitation, and medical care, has been well maintained. The students have an ideal five weeks outing pleasureable and beneficial to them; and the instruction, drill, cavalry exercises, field manoeuvres, field surveying and field work generally, give them in the continuous five weeks training, an insight into military matters. They are, in addition to this regular work, given ample time for recreation and rest.

We commend the camps to the authorities and students of the Universities and Colleges of the country. We believe that the training and instruction which the students attending receive not only emphasize the dangers and losses of wars lightly and unpreparedly entered into, but we also believe that the training given is excellent, and a great benefit, mental and physical, to the students attending.

The above report was made by the Presidents of Princeton, Harvard, Yale, New York State, Michigan, Alabama, V. M. I., California, Cornell, Illinois, Vanderbilt, Stevens Tech, Williams College, and Lehigh Universities.

Clemson should be represented at one or more of these camps next summer. Begin now to make your plans to attend.

EXTRACTS.

From Last Annual Trustee's Report.

"In fact, the work of all departments of the institution is well systematized and is a model for our other State institutions."

The 1913 Committee says of Clemson and the other State institutions:

"The earnest, alert and loyal spirit of the student body of the State educational institutions, the zeal, progressiveness, and breadth of vision of their heads, the devotion of the faculties, the efficiency that characterizes their business management, and the growth that is evident in each of the plants, show that the appropriations spent to develop citizenship are achieving results that promise substantial returns in the future."

While not in the nature of an official opinion, no voluntary commendation of the work and standing of the College is more appreciated than the comment in the Progressive Farmer of October 30, 1915, by its gifted young editor, Mr. Clarence Poe, who writes:

"Today Clemson College stands in the front rank of American agricultu-

FIRST LECTURE NEW Y. M. C. A.

The privilege of delivering the first lecture in the new Y. M. C. A. building was given to Dr. D. W. Daniel, of the English department. The heart of this man, who is a credit to our College and so well known over the State, has ever been with the religious interest of the student body. For half an hour the speaker held an audience of four hundred while he dwelt on the subject "Dreams, and Dreamers."

The first illustration drawn by Dr. Daniels was that of the dreamer Joseph and his brothers. Sixty percent of the world's dreams are said to come from seeing things. The speaker said that the popular idea of dreams is that they come from experience of the individuals before they came into this world, or experiences of their ancestors. "However," said Dr. Daniel "I am not supporting these ideas; merely quoting them." The other common idea of dreams is they are brought about by "the eating of big suppers."

"Be careful of your dreams, they do much to influence man's life. If he follows his dreams, the man at forty is what he dreamed of at five. There is nothing in the world worth while that was not brought about by dreamers;" these are words, in part, of Dr. Daniel. He mentioned the fact that Columbus, a dreamer, later found America; that Stevenson dreamed of the wonders of steam; that Franklin dreamed of marvelous results from electricity.

"This building is the result of dreams by former Clemson men," said the speaker. He pointed to literature brought about by dreams. The same is true of sculpture and other arts; all are the works of dreamers." What are you, young man, dreaming of? Your dream to-day will determine your life forty years from now." A story was cited of an unprepared dreamer who had to discard the idea of becoming a minister, or physician and become later a saloon keeper.

Dr. Daniel asked his listeners to set to dreaming at the entrance of our new Y. M. C. A. building of a higher life for our students, when every man refuses to cheat on examinations, when only the perfect type of gentlemen make up our student body. He said that there are too many with low ideals; that we should consider forty years from the present day.

Hon. H. C. Tillman, '03, spoke to the Y. M. C. A. at the last meeting before the holidays. While in college, Mr. Tillman took an active part in the student life. Some good suggestions were given in his talk that would have credited each student if he had heard them.

ral colleges, with approximately four hundred students in its agricultural courses. Sometime later I hope to give a comprehensive account of the great work it is doing, and has done, for South Carolina farming and farm life."

Standard of Admission.

The College makes no pretensions to standards of admission impossible of attainment in the present state of development of our public schools. The entrance requirements are based upon the completion of ten grades in the average school. This is about equivalent on the average to ten standard units.

At Clemson College "conditions" (that device to make up an impossible admission standard of twelve to fourteen units) are not allowed. A student

22ND CONVENTION OF THE S. I. A. A.

The Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association is the oldest intercollegiate association in the nation. Stretching from Kentucky to Texas, to covers a larger territory than any other. Its present purpose, as from its beginning in 1895, is to preserve intercollegiate athletics on a high ethical plane rather to foster mere playing ability. In this fundamental respect it differs from professional agencies which seek to give to every spectator the largest return for the price of an admission ticket. This difference has never been clear to the public, and especially to the press which has taught by professional baseball to expect the highest athletic proficiency as the aim of any code of rules. The aim of the S. I. A. A. is to design such a code as will keep out "ringers", insure amateurism, require reasonable attendance and academic proficiency of athletes, and keep intercollegiate contests from becoming mere gladiatorial combats. Whether the attainment of these ends is inimicable to producing the greatest playing machine is a consideration of secondary importance.

The 22nd Convention which met in New Orleans in December was one of the most critical in the history of the Association. With the growth of the Association had come the inclusion of a large number of small colleges whose interests and conditions were different from those of the larger colleges. For example, most of the larger colleges favored a uniform flat one year rule for football players, but the smaller colleges (constituting a voting majority) were unwilling to take this step. The result was the formation of a conference of those colleges willing to make the one year rule fundamental. This Conference at present contains Auburn, Georgia Tech., Clemson, University of Tennessee, Mississippi A. & M. College, and the University of Kentucky. It is understood that the University of South Carolina and possibly the University of Alabama will join the Conference when it holds its first session in Knoxville on January 28th and 29th.

There is nothing in the formation of this new Association antagonistic to the work of the older Association. It is merely banding together of certain colleges willing to belong to the S. I. A. A. and to go a step farther than the S. I. A. A. has yet been able to go. As one of those who believe strongly in the one year rule, for football players at least, I am glad to see this new Association formed. It may eventually bring about absorption of the S. I. A. A. as one college after another subscribes to the one year principle, or it may become unnecessary if the S. I. A. A. itself adopts the one year rule.

The more important amendments to the S. I. A. A. adopted at the New Orleans Convention were as follows:

To replace Sec. 13, Art. IX, which limited a student's playing after entering College to his home county teams the following:

1. "A student after he has been in college one full year and has met the scholarship requirements of said institution may play summer baseball for his expenses on any team he may elect, provided said team is not a member of a league recognized by the American Sports Guide."

As a substitute for Sec. 10a and 10b, Art. IX, the following:

2. "No student shall participate in intercollegiate athletic contests in any games to which a member of this

EDITORIAL.

1916.

To some this new year means happiness, prosperity, and success, or at least a partial realization of their fondest dreams; to others none of these. To which class do you belong? Maybe you don't know it, but the membership of both these classes is voluntary. Whether or not you become a part of the bunch that really live depends largely upon your own actions—not mere passing resolutions or flitting fancies.

You can be what you want to be, and there's no better way of going about it than by virtually always singing: "I'll be What You Want Me to be, Dear Lord....." in the true spirit. Service is the key to life's storeroom wherein the fulfillment of our noblest dreams is stored.

Let us enter into this new year with the spirit of true service and put our lives into our work, for by so doing our work will put life into us.

Our only resolution for 1916 applies to everything good we can do and is, when opportunity affords:

"Do it. Do it right. Do it right now."

'Tis our sincere desire that every one of our readers will come to the end of this year with a feeling of genuine satisfaction that comes only from duty well done and a life well spent.

New Year

No Evil Will Yield Eternally Appreciated Results.

Who says a Clemson man can't do a thing when he sets his head? Tommy Haddon is married.

The Winthrop Weekly says; "Leap year has arrived, girls! Seize now your opportunity!!"

Visitors to Clemson often tell us of the numerous opportunities around here—the registrar says over 800.

Thoughts are things, and everything with which you come in contact has some influence upon your life. Control your thoughts and you have mastered yourself—your greatest task.

A man is somewhat like a sausage: Rather smooth upon the skin; but you can never tell just how much hog there is within.

SOCIALS.

The cadets who remained at Clemson during the holidays were delightfully entertained at the homes of several members of the faculty.

* * *

Misses Littlejohn of Jonesville are visiting their brother Mr. J. C. Littlejohn.

* * *

On last Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Bradley entertained at dinner.

* * *

Miss McGowan of Laurens, who is now teaching at Easley, spent the week end with Mrs. McSwain.

* * *

Mrs. Smith, her son Otis, and Mrs. Moore are visiting Mrs. W. M. Riggs.

* * *

Capt. H. A. Sloan entertained a number of his friends Saturday evening.

* * *

Among those whom we wish to welcome to the campus are Mr. and Mrs. Fairveter, and Miss Belle Sayer.

Mr. Fairveter has a position with the Bacteriology Division.

The Sophomore Dancing Club will give its first informal dance on Saturday evening, Jan. 15th, beginning at 8:30 o'clock. On account of the action of the Student Activities Committee, only Sophomores and Freshmen will be allowed to attend this dance. This being the first dance given by the Sophomores a great deal of work has been put upon it, and it is to be hoped that it will be a most successful occasion, as well as an enjoyable one for the cadets, and the members of the faculty. The Clemson College Orchestra will furnish the music.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

All of the societies held their first regular meetings for the new year last Friday night. The meetings were mostly taken up with matters of business.

COLUMBIAN.

This society had expected to hold its preliminary contest to select representatives for the annual celebration, and thus no regular program was prepared. As it was necessary to change the date of the celebration, it was thought wise to change the date of the preliminary also. After attending to a few matters of business the society adjourned.

HAYNE.

The meeting was presided over by the vice-president in the absence of the president. The attendance was small. There was no regular program. The society decided to have its picture made in front of the new Y. M. C. A. building.

PALMETTO.

The regular exercises were postponed and the meeting was taken up with business matters. The society decided to have a picture made for the Annual, and to put a sponsor's picture in the center of the page containing the pictures of the four presidents. The selection of this sponsor was left with the second term president. Two orators, W. T. Patrick and S. C. Stribling, and two debaters, E. H. Agnew and C. Rothell, were elected, and volunteers for declaimers for the annual celebration were received. The marchers for the celebration were elected as follows: Chief, D. H. Banks; assistants, C. S. Anderson, E. G. Acker, J. W. Simpson and J. B. Dick.

WADE HAMPTON.

The regular exercises were postponed in order that the remainder of the officers for the third term might be elected. The election resulted as follows:

Vice-President, H. L. Suggs.
Secretary, S. Littlejohn.
Prosecuting Critic, L. A. May.
Censor, G. C. McDaniel.
Literary Critic, J. M. Garris.
Chaplain, W. E. Hunter.
Reporting Critics, G. H. Davis, W. L. Pride, H. R. Chapman, and T. M. Jervey.

Sergeant-at-arms, G. I. Hutchinson.
Short extemporaneous speeches were made by Messrs. Britt and Littlejohn.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Minutes for Dec. 14, 1915.

The society held its regular bi-monthly meeting in the Palmetto Society Hall at 7:30 o'clock, December 14, 1915. As this was the last meeting of the first term officers for the second term were elected, and the regular program was postponed until the first meeting of the second term.

The following officers were elected: President, W. T. Patrick.

Vice-President, E. D. Kyzer.
Secretary, R. B. Waters.

The President for the third term was also elected, L. B. Cannon being elected. The following new men were initiated into the society: R. R. Mellette, W. P. Bogard, W. H. Jenkins, and W. L. McMillan. There being no further business the society adjourned.

enters the Freshman Class and takes the full course of thirty hours per week or does not enter at all. The College prefers to be judged by its exit standards rather than its entrance requirements, although the latter are on a par with the possible requirements of other male colleges of the State. All must of necessity take tenth grade pupils into their Freshman classes or close their doors.

This College prefers to have its usefulness to the State measured by the quality of its service rather than by any arbitrary system of units.

The Clemson College catalogue is not an advertising document, but a plain and literal statement of facts. It is designed to give information to prospective students, not to solicit them.

Enrollment and Classification.

The total enrollment for the session was 819, distributed as follows:

In Agricultural courses — 52½ percent
In all other courses — 47½ percent

It is a remarkable coincidence that the Freshman Class, numbering 314 men, divided exactly in half, 157 taking Agriculture and 157 the other courses. The average age of the Freshman was 18.01 years, and of the One-Year Agricultural men, 20.3 years. Approximately 90 per cent of all the students of the year before, after deducting for those who finished, returned last fall. No higher or sincerer compliment could be paid the College by its students than this.

On May 30 we awarded certificates to 38 young men who had completed the One-Year Agricultural Course, and on Commencement Day diplomas to 107 graduates, distributed as follows:

(1) Agricultural	61
(2) Elec. & Mech. Engr.	24
(3) Civil Engineering	8
(4) Textile Engineering	11
(5) Architectural Engineering	2

Enrollment, 819. Every county in South Carolina Represented. 13 Degree Courses. 4 Short Courses. 26 Departments of instruction. New and Modern buildings, equipment and sanitation. Over $100,000 expended in public service.

VALUE OF A TECHNICAL COLLEGE EDUCATION

A young man can make no better investment than in a technical education. Viewed merely as a matter of business, even if he has to borrow the money at interest, he will find that his increased earning capacity perhaps even the first year after graduation will be sufficient to repay the loan. It is a poor business policy to wait to earn the money necessary to pay for an education with an earning capacity only one-half or one-third that of an educated man. Every year of untrained, uneducated labor represents a direct financial loss. Every boy of ability and ambition whose parents are unable to pay for his education, should get some friend to indorse his note at the bank and begin preparation that will make for greater earning capacity and a fuller life. There is no time to lose. The world is looking for men of large ability and is willing to pay for them. Already there is a surplus of the one horsepower variety.

A college education is no longer a luxury of the rich, but more a necessity of the poor boy whose parents can give him little or nothing to start on. In earning capacity, it represents at the outset a capital of from $15,000 to $30,000, depending upon the energy, character and personality of the possessor, and the capital increases with every year of its efficient use.

There never was a time in the history of the world when expert knowledge was so much in demand, so indispensable to individual success, and so highly compensated. For the untrained await the positions of low wages, long hours and poverty.

Clemson College brings within the reach of every boy in South Carolina the benefits and possibilities of a technical education. The way is provided whereby, if he have the ambition and capacity for knowledge, he need not continue in ignorance. Here, at a cost lower than at any similar institution, can a young man obtain an education that will prepare him for self-sustaining, self-respecting citizenship.

W. M. RIGGS, President.

association is a party unless his standing is at least that of a freshman without conditions, or his entrance to the college he represents was on at least fourteen Carnegie units."

3. As a modification of Sec. 5, Art. IX, a football player is required to matriculate within 10 days of the opening of College instead of within thirty days as for other athletes.

As an addition to Sec. 9, Art. IX, the following:

4. "A student entering one institution of collegiate rank from another shall not be eligible to compete in intercollegiate football until he has been for one year a student at the institution which he enters last, regardless of whether he participated in intercollegiate athletics or not at the first college."

As an addition to Sec. 15, Art. IX, the following:

5. "No student who knowingly makes a false statement in his eligibility certificate shall ever hereafter participate in an intercollegiate contest to which a member of this association is a party."

As an additional requirement for resignation, the following was added to Sec. 2 of Art. V.:

6. "No resignation shall be accepted unless endorsed by the President of the institution."

7. Probably the most important amendment which looks to preserving the solidarity of the Association was an amendment prohibiting resignations except at the Annual Conventions, and automatically blacklisting any member resigning between Conventions.

These are the most important amendments.

The S. I. A. A. is not a collection of athletic organizations, but of Colleges that have faculty government in athletics. The Association proceeds upon the theory that College athletics is just as much a matter for faculty control as is the curriculum or any feature of College administration.

For over fifteen years I have been an officer in the S. I. A. A.,—for several years past its President. This year, I was re-elected to the Presidency, but resigned because of other duties. Dean B. M. Walker of the Mississippi A. & M. College was thereupon elected.

The District Vice-Presidents are as follows:

1st District (South Carolina, Capt. J. W. Moore of the Citadel.

2nd District (Georgia, Fla., and Alabama)—Prof. H. W. Cox of the University of Florida.

3rd District (Miss. and La.)—Prof. T. W. Atkinson, of the La. State University.

4th District (Ky. and Tenn.)—Dr. Walter Hullihen of Sewanee.

ALUMNI NOTES.

Mitchell spends a large part of his time in traveling. He carries the Alumni Directory and makes it his business to get in touch with the Clemson men wherever he stops. This is a fine idea.

Geo. F. Mitchell, '02, Supervising Tea Examiner, U. S. Treasury Dept., Washington, D. C. (see above.)

H. D. Barker, '15—Univ. Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.

J. T. Rosa, Jr., '15—Dept. Hort. Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa.

B. Rhett Turnipseed, '96, Chester, S. C. will deliver the Alumni address this coming commencement. Mr. Turnipseed was for a long time the only Clemson graduate in the ministry. He will bring to us a great message.

The "Grand Daddy" class of 1896 will hold its 20 year reunion in June. These old Grads are very enthusiastic over the reunion. About 25 have already signified their intention of coming. All of them will get off their dignity and be boys once more.

H. G. Welborn, ex-1900, special Textile representative of Douglas Starch

J. G. Oetzel, '14, just had to come by the college when he was at home on vacation some time ago. That irresistible and indefinable feeling deep down prompts us all to see the old college when ever we can.

Oetzel is with the General Electric Co., at Erie, Pa. His address is 31 West 10th Street. The G. E. Co., operate an oil and gas engine manufacturing plant at Erie. Electric locomotives are also built here. Oetzel is the only Clemson man in the shop.

J. E. Hanahan, '13, is special apprentice with Erie Railroad. His headquarters is at Tusquehanna, Pa. Hanahan was on the test of the "Matt. H. Shay", the largest engine in the world.

Jack T. Bowen, '96, a member of the "Grand Daddy" class is one of the leaders in the Washington, D. C., Alumni Chapter. The old boys are counting on Bowens presence at the '96 reunion in June.

AN ABOMINABLE PRACTICE.

anger expressed by the public. Why is there any latitude allowed the student which is not allowed the average citizen?

This thing of severe hazing is without an excuse. It is a form of barbarity which is totally out of keeping with the ideals which are fostered by institutions of learning. One can see how the students might engage in a little fun at the expense of a "rat" and how they might contrive to break the conceit of a newcomer who makes himself objectionable. But when hazing goes further than mere fun, it becomes an offense against the rights of others, and should be an offense against the law of States.

Hundreds of "rats" some of them of shrinking disposition, are made unhappy by the prospect of hazing. Instead of feeling that a warm welcome awaits them, and that there will be a feeling of fraternity, there are some students who leave for college with a feeling of dread. Now college men should remember that they are more favored than thousands of others. When they enter college, they have even then gone further in knowledge than the average man goes, and it is but reasonable to expect of them conduct which is better than that of the man who has had less advantage.

During recent years the sentiment against hazing has gained momentum. The public is demanding more consideration on the part of school boys and college boys. This is an absolutely just demand. There is none to berate innocent fun; all that the public demands is that the fun be innocent, and not harmful. A group of boys, away from home, will inevitably play pranks. There is nothing wrong in this. One likes to see plenty of wholesome liveliness. It bespeaks virulence, a happy disposition and the like. But when these pranks become inconsiderate of others, the perpetrators cease to qualify as gentlemen according to the definition as given by that wonderful gentleman, Robert E. Lee, which definition, in effect, is that a gentleman is a man who will never intentionally wound another's feelings or, in other words, one who is considerate.

Hazing is decreasing. Luck to those who seek to expedite its demise. The practice has been abused in many schools. It were better to bar it absolutely, if such be necessary to prevent unkindness. The new student should be made to feel at home. He should be spared, so far as may be, the misery which often he suffers during the first few weeks from home. During this period a kind word or deed, will make an impression upon that student which will be remembered all the days of his life. The opportunity is present for an upper classman to do a little thing as he sees it, yet a big thing in its effect upon the "rat."

Imagine the other man's position. Remember the golden rule. Be considerate as a student, and be considerate as a man after student days are over. Such a policy contributes to the happiness of others, and contributes vastly to the happiness of the man who follows it.—Greenville News.

We are glad to state that the V. M. I. student was not injured by hazing. This fact was shown by evidence submitted. We reprint this merely to indorse its sentiment.
